

Cardiolyte Health

Home cardiac rehab, prescribed like a drug

Investor Presentation

October 2026

The Problem

Only 24% of eligible heart patients complete cardiac rehabilitation¹

Center-based programs require 36 in-person visits; most patients drop out by week 4

¹ Footnote: synthetic statistic for demonstration purposes only.

Our Solution

Cardiolyte is a prescription digital therapeutic (SaMD) for cardiac rehabilitation

Remote patient monitoring with wearable ECG patch plus clinician dashboard

Pursuing FDA De Novo clearance; cardiology-led clinical protocol

Market

TAM $6.1B: US cardiac rehab and cardiovascular digital health

SAM $1.4B across 1,200 hospital cardiology programs

TRACTION

3 health-system pilots in Texas

412 patients enrolled

81% program completion

2 signed LOIs with cardiology groups

Business Model

$1,200 per patient program, reimbursed under cardiac rehab CPT codes

B2B contracts with health systems and cardiology practices

Team

Headquartered in Austin, Texas

CEO: Dana Whitfield (synthetic) — former VP Product, digital health scale-up

CMO: Dr. Omar Reyes (synthetic) — interventional cardiologist

Competition

	Cardiolyte	Center-based rehab	Generic fitness apps
Prescribed & reimbursed	Yes	Yes	No
Home-based	Yes	No	Yes
Clinician monitoring	Yes	Yes	No

The Ask

Raising $2.5M Seed round on a post-money SAFE ($12M valuation cap)

Committed: $1.1M in signed SAFEs from angel investors

Soft-circled: $400K (verbal interest from two family offices)

Target close: December 15, 2026

Seeking US-based investors who can co-invest alongside our lead angels

Previously raised $750K pre-seed from friends & family (2025)

Use of Funds

Use of funds	Share
Clinical validation study	40%
Engineering	30%
Go-to-market	20%
Regulatory	10%

Appendix: Milestone Timeline

Milestone	Timing
Seed close	Q1 2027
FDA De Novo submission	Q3 2027
Next round: Series A of $8M	2028

Contact

Cardiolyte Health, Inc. · 500 Example Ave, Austin, TX 78701

founders@cardiolyte.example

© 2026 Cardiolyte Health, Inc. Confidential.